Terms and Conditions:

In our capacity as a coaching and educational company at Martyna Scibiorek Consulting Group (Pty.) Ltd trading under the name Science Bridge we will require access to limited personal information such as name, surname and relevant contact details, as well as confidential records, files or other client information associated with your profile with us.

All information obtained by Science Bridge will be confidentially and securely stored and will not be repurposed for any external enterprise or individual. Personal information may be used for the sharing of marketing materials as specified on our website.

All course materials and associated items are the intellectual property of Science Bridge. By accepting these conditions, you agree that any tool kits, intellectual property and skills shared with yourself are considered confidential and cannot be redistributed or shared to any other parties without the express and signed consent from Science Bridge.

Failure to do so will result in financial compensation for breach of this agreement as prescribed by the law or legal counsel of Science Bridge. Your records and information are of a highly confidential nature and we hereby undertake to treat all such information as well as verbal information received concerning you, with complete and strict confidence. This confidentiality contract will be binding indefinitely in all our future dealings between Science Bridge and yourself, in our platforms.
